

AGS Attends National Council for Workforce Education Conference

September 26th-27th, 2018

Clearwater Beach, FL

The National Council for Workforce Education (NCWE) hosted their annual conference this September, which AGS staff attended. The conference focuses on providing resources to community colleges to enrich educational efforts to prepare the workforce for success. Workshops at the conference provided a multitude of educational opportunities for employees, as well as a environment for sharing ideas and products like G*STARS. This conference provided opportunities for employees to connect with other workforce and community college executives to share and educate how G*STARS can be implemented into their program.
